My Amends began at Ground Zero Family Negligence Headed the List

I was serving in the navy, living like a fleet sailor, in a rocky marriage, with one child, in and out of port, drinking and quarreling a lot with my wife, and circling the drain. One day my ship pulled into port and tied up to the pier. I grabbed my essentials and went to my home in the navy housing facility to find the place empty and deserted. Gone was my wife, my son, my furniture, my car, my marriage and my pride. I returned to my ship, shamed and humiliated and absolutely crushed. I spent the next two years crying in my beer and looking for sympathy. I stared across the bar at myself in the mirror wondering if everyone in the bar knew how much pain I was in. I began to have problems getting back to my ship on time in the morning, and after the third such episode, when I woke up at 9 am, I was already two hours late for muster, I called the local A.A. fellowship and found my way there. That was on Oct. 15, 1969, and I have been sober ever since.

A little over a year after I got sober, I was remarried to my current wife of 47 years. About a year into that marriage I remember waking up in the middle of the night, sitting up in bed and my wife asked me, "what's wrong". I replied "I can't do this anymore". She asked me what I was talking about and I replied, "I have to stop bad mouthing my first wife". From that day until now, my wife and I have been treating her with kindness, respect, empathy, understanding and love. That is where I started getting into making amends and family negligence headed the list. There are many areas in our lives where we need to repair damaged relations, but there's no more important place to start than at ground zero. Our families have been on the receiving end of our errant behavior for years, and it will take time to regain their trust. They were not the problem, we were, and they don't owe us anything.

Until we gain some credibility, we can't make any demands. Credibility is doing what you say you're going to do, and not making any promises we can't keep. A whole bunch of credibility leads to the beginning of integrity. We can repair other relations as we spiral outward from our families to our close friends then to our work mates and our fishing buddies and so on. Being a good husband/wife, a good father/mother or, a good sister/brother, I think, should hold a top priority, as our families need us. About twelve years ago, after living in the same community for 24 years, at the time, and attending meetings daily I made a statement at a meeting that I would give anyone $100.00 if they had ever heard me say one negative thing about my first wife, and nobody could collect on it, including my wife, and that son I thought I had lost. As I think back on that incident, I realize that it was the seed that fashioned my whole attitude about how I practice my principles. Now tell me, if I say that I never say anything bad about my first wife, but I am still gossiping and being critical about other people, am I not a hypocrite? I cannot be selective about who I apply these principles to. Principles are not flexible. They are the solid bedrock that my credibility and integrity rest upon. Learning how to treat my family makes it much easier to repair the damage to those outside the family circle and my family will be witness to my credibility and my integrity.

SEEDS OF SOBRIETY VIA STEP TEN

"Every moment of every day, God spreads winged seeds of sobriety over the desperate souls of every alcoholic when they ask for help. However, seeds that come to rest in soil of selfishness, dishonesty, resentment and fear fail to germinate and are lost. Fortunately, Step Ten teaches us how to maintain the sort of fertile spiritual soil into which God's seeds will cultivate joyous and continual sobriety.

The Step Ten directions (p. 84) tells us to continually watch for those new mistakes mentioned above—this sometimes needs happen before exiting bed in the morning. If one of those "grosser handicaps" are taking space in my noodle, then a prayer is in order. It is time to reflect on the Big Book directions how to face and be rid of self-ishness, dishonesty, resentment and fear.

As I go through the day, I need to be aware of and utilize the important "face and be rid of" tools found in Steps Four Through Nine. When a new or old resentment crops up I need to remember the five-part spiritual Prayer on page 67 and considering whether I was at fault. When stupid and irrational fears crop up I need remember the fear prayer on page 68. When I feel myself veering toward selfishness and/or dishonesty I need to remember as how this is often my dismal nature. What to do? Where is my Big Book? After all, I must keep in a fit spiritual condition if seeds of sobriety are to bloom into a joyous and God filled day.

My Big Book tells me that when selfishness, dishonesty, resentment and fear crop, I am to ask God at once to remove them. Then I need to discuss them with someone immediately. If I have harmed someone, I am to make amends quickly. Who said there was no timetable in the Big Book? However, after all, God gave us brains to use, so you probably shouldn't wake up your sponsor at three in the morning for some trivial and unnecessary reason.

If I continue to cultivate my spiritual ground of being, Step Ten promises that my sanity will grow to where I will be able to see and act on the truth in the matter of drink. It even informs me that my mental obsession will be removed! (p. 85) But the prerequisite is that I maintain a fit spiritual condition. I must continue to thank God for continually planting His seeds of sobriety in me throughout each day for the rest of my life.

By Bob S.

I must face and be rid of my grosser handicaps of selfishness, dishonesty, Resentment and fear to maintain a fit spiritual condition.

ALCOHOLIC IS NOT ME

I'm not an alcoholic and you all will soon see
 The disease of alcoholism will never get to me.
 Alcohol made me confident, vibrant and carefree
 Sobriety never offered these sensations to me.
 Through the good times and bad - no matter the occasion Drinking was always a part of equation.
 My illness progressed requiring a bottle a day only alcohol could keep my jitters away.
 My DTs got so bad I could hardly write yet I continued to drink morning, noon, and night.
 I'll practice some controlled drinking.
 I'll limit the number I consume (or so I was thinking)
 I will only have two drinks - two and I'm through.
 Drinking only natural wines - I even tried that too.
 Not before 7 p.m. will I touch a glass of wine.
 But by 7:01, I'd made up for lost time.
 I went from scotch to brandy. I tried drinking beer only.
 Drinking only on the weekends, or at times when I felt lonely.
 I thought quitting for a period of time would help
 The alternative being jails, institutions or death.
 My drinking progressed and took a turn for the worse
 when I started hiding liquor bottles inside my purse.
 My fiance gave me a choice between him and my booze I knew in an instant which addiction I would choose.
 "I can quit at anytime," is the lie I often told myself.
 And I don't need the help of you, A.A. or anyone else. I knew the hazards of drinking too much alcohol.
 When asked if I'm an addict, I responded, "Not at all."
 I'll attended meetings but inside I knew...
 I wasn't like you, you or like you!
 I was given an Am I an Addict pamphlet by someone I knew 28 out of 29 questions I answered were true.
 With my eyes wide open I slowly began to get it.
 Alcohol had ruined everything including my good credit.
 I had been fighting a battle that clearly I couldn't win.
 The insanity of my disease would manifest itself all over again.
 I am an alcoholic and quite clear to me,
 That the disease of alcoholism has finally become me.

WORKING WITH OTHERS

Practical experience shows that nothing will so much insure immunity from drinking as intensive work with other alcoholics. It works when other activities fail. This is our twelfth suggestion: Carry this message to other alcoholics! You can help when no one else can. You can secure their confidence when others fail. Remember they are very ill....

Please make a note on your calendars!

Let's carry the message and Give Back!
