No Time to Rest on Our Laurels Playing Checkers or Playing Chess?

Let me preface this article by saying that I am not being critical of anyone for any reason concerning where a person is along the path of sobriety. My only motive for writing it is to give some perspective concerning the possibilities which lie ahead based on the thoroughness we apply to the steps as we put some distance between us and that last drink. I am one of the fortunate ones that showed up at the doors of Alcoholics Anonymous at the age of 28 and have never wanted a drink since that day.

I was the youngest person in the room for my first couple of years as the drugs using population of the Sixties generation hadn't started showing up until the mid-seventies and they seemed to bottom out at a much earlier age than the common variety alcoholics who seldom came to us until they were in their forties. (midlife crisis) I was referred to as "The fortunate One." In my first two years, I was like everyone else when it came to the subject of thoroughness, and I was selective about what I would do with the program and about the things I would dismiss as being unnecessary since I had absolutely no desire to drink.

I was slow and deliberate when it came to actually taking the steps and it was almost two years before I attempted to do the fourth step inventory and being in the Navy at the time, I was shipped out to an oil tanker in The Tonkin Gulf Yacht Club Where I spent four months hauling fuel to the fleet.

I had many nights at sea thinking and longing to be back with my home group and contemplating what I had planned to do and when I got home I re-opened my fourth step inventory with a new attitude about the steps and realized that my original attempt was a very shallow scam so I burned it and started over and this time, I got it right.

That, I think was the turning point in my attitude about thoroughness. I addressed those so called "Tormenting Ghosts of Yesterday." Shared them with another trusted member of the program and it just lifted the weight off my shoulders and that, I believe, made the rest of the program much easier.

I have attended a weekly step study meeting ever since and it helps me to measure my growth as we cycle through the steps and traditions several times a year.

There is a term on page 85 in the Big Book and, coincidentally, on Page 85 in the 12x12 that suggests "This is no time to rest on our laurels" and I take that very serious. Selfishness was the problem and today I live a life based on unselfish principles and motives.

THE BEAUTY OF TRADITION TEN

It allows us to concentrate on what we have in common. Sobriety in AA is the first thing in my life that has really worked. I'm grateful to fellow AAs who've shown me how not to drink on a daily basis, and to alcoholics I've never met who established our Steps, Traditions, and Concepts for World Service. When I live these principles to the best of my ability, they keep me sober and in touch with the God of my understanding.

I'm especially grateful for Tradition Ten, where it is suggested that AA groups never get involved in the messy business of debating outside issues. The wonderful "extra" implied by this Tradition is that I, as an individual recovering alcoholic, am free to simply enjoy sobriety in AA, without having to defend my position on any outside issue.

You see, I grew up in the sixties. I lived with my parents (one alcoholic, one social drinker) who were closely associated with a small, left-wing, private college in the Northeast. It was a school where expressing your opinions in public was very important. On campus, where I hung out as a thirteen-year-old, I heard lots of angry rhetoric about Vietnam, civil rights, and a lot else. My parents brought the same kind of political anger home with them, and challenged me to come up with informed positions on the same issues. I was only an eighth grader, but I was expected to engage in adult-style discussions.

If I didn't have an opinion on the issue at hand, I was considered a failure or a nonthinker. Looking back, it was probably great training for a future alcoholic. I got very good at hiding the things I was truly ashamed of (especially the amount I drank), using a smoke screen of vaguely directed political opinion.

As my disease progressed, I was often broke, unemployed, hungover, and in need of a place to stay. Usually, my parents would take me in, and for months at a time I'd live at home, trying to get my act together. Deep down inside I knew I was sick and crazy from booze.

But at the time, dealing with it was too frightening. It was easier to engage my parents in a petty debate over some global issue beyond our control than to draw attention to the real reason I was out of work.

No Time to Rest on Our Laurels

After many years of sobriety, I could very easily slack off and vegetate, but I would have no purpose in life and if I neglected responsibilities my self-worth would suffer. I also stopped being judgmental about the behaviors of others or I would be playing God myself. Scott Peck Defines Love as "Caring for and nurturing another person" and I can love everyone even if they can't return the gesture. It simply means wishing the best for them and meaning it.

Happiness is a Biproduct of right living and living by unselfish principles is the key. These are just a few ideas but there many ways to continue to have a purpose and if you don't, you may be stronger now and you may want to re-visit the fourth thru the ninth steps and get a better perception on how to become a more useful member of society and be fulfilled or, you may be satisfied just not drinking one day at a time.

That's your choice. I overheard a sports-caster describing the different head coaches of professional football teams and he said, "Some are playing Checkers, and a few are playing Chess." Life takes on a new meaning and it is way too precious to waste when you've come this far.

THE TENTH STEP PROMISES

The Big Book offers an array of promises associated with each of the Twelve Steps, but for me, the rewards starting on the bottom of page 84 and continuing throughout that paragraph are, by far, the most vibrant and exciting – these are my favorites:

"And we have ceased fighting anything or anything – even alcohol."

When I am living in the spirit of the Step Ten directions and resolutely turning my thoughts to someone I can help, I become much less reactionary with those who disagree with me. Being right, takes a back seat to developing a continuing friendly relationship. The first shot is not fired because the battle never begins.

"For by this time sanity will have returned."

I feel as though the word 'sanity' overflows from the first promise; if I am unable to differentiate the true from the false in the matter of drink, I am indeed suffering from alcoholic insanity. However, if I can see and act on the obvious truth in the matter of that next drink, I am living in a sane manner. The Big Book often uses the expression of insanity interchangeably with the phrase, 'mental obsession.' Jim's Story (p. 37) is case in point.

"If tempted, we recoil as from a hot flame"

During first sober year or so drinking thoughts would spawn deep-seated horror. If I would – as is often suggested – Think the drink through, the dismal memory of those horrible hallucinations coming on, the music exuding from the walls, and the jail door slamming shut filled me with terror. The dread of being fired, once again, would come on strongly. But as time passed, I learned to stymie these unpleasant thoughts before they become solidified. Actually, I believe I have developed a reverse Pavlov in the matter of drink.

"It just comes! That is the miracle of it."

This miracle happened for me! Thoughts of drinking no longer exists in my emotional vocabulary. This marvelous "release" took place in my second year of sobriety and I have not been plagued by the mental obsession since—thank you God!

"Instead, the problem has been removed. It does not exist for us."

These two phrases probably represent the most important single promise in the Big Book: a release from the insanity of taking that first alcoholic drink! Of course, this exciting promise is obviously concerning the mental obsession before the first drink. I will never be an ex-alcoholic—just one shot and I am shot! We are not told that the problem (obsession) has been eradicated, destroyed or beamed to outer space. It simply promises that it has been removed. That Obsession/Allergy will forever lurk, just waiting for me to fall below a fit spiritual condition.

"That is how we react so long as we remain in a fit spiritual condition."

I have found that living in the spirit of Maintenance Steps Ten, Eleven and Twelve, to the best of my ability, I have remained close enough to a fit spiritual condition that I haven't had to drink since my very first meeting in 1975.

Today, I'm sober and grateful for what it was like, what happened, and what it's like now. I'm even grateful to my parents, who put up with me as an active alcoholic while also living with their own illnesses. But I'm especially grateful to the alcoholics who founded this Fellowship and gave us the guidelines by which we run our groups. Tradition Ten frees AAs to concentrate on what we have in common—recovery, unity, service—rather than waste time debating outside issues. Angry debate of things over which we have no power can only serve to split us.

As the social worker was passing his cell, she asked the prisoner, "Was it your love of drink that brought you here?" "No, ma'am," he replied. "You can't get none of it here."

Sometimes when talking to a new man, we mention a Higher Power or God and we see panic in their eyes. Well, the way I learned to handle it was to tell the story I learned from an old timer. In the story a newcomer said, "I don't understand this God business." "I don't understand this electricity business either," said the old timer, "But I'm not going to sit in the dark until I do." Or as we sometimes say, "Fake it until you make it." Andy E., Akron, OH
