Step Nine: The Promise Of Intuition We Will Know Peace

We will intuitively know how to handle situations which used to baffle us. (B.B. pg. 84) How many times in your life have you been faced with a decision, and you did not know what to do about it, then a day and a half later, you awakened in the middle of the night, sat up in bed, and said to your-self, A-Hah, and went right back to sleep? Somehow the answer came to you without having to go through days of research.

In the early days of 1970, I was going through a course on human behavior and the instructor was trying to describe how the brain functions. He explained that the human brain has approximately ten billion cells and we only use about one billion of them. He then explained that these cells store everything we experience in our lifetime. The more current events are easier to remember than the things that are off in the distant past, but they are all in there somewhere. He then likened it to a file system where, if you ask a question, the more current answers come immediately, but for those more distant memories, the brain starts searching the files and it may take a while eventually the answer will come. With all the mental chaos that we bring with us when we enter the Alcoholics Anonymous (A.A.) program, we have lot of, what I refer to as, unlearning to do. We go through the process of trying to rid ourselves of alcoholic thinking and to replace it with sound principles and values. If we are fortunate enough to buy in completely, and do a thorough job of house-cleaning, so to speak, we can start using the ideas that we hear of, and others used successfully, and we get a surprisingly good result. We may hear as many as twenty or thirty people share at any given meeting. Can we remember everything we hear? To me, the answer is yes. I could come up with a dozen boilerplate A.A. cliches about how the answers come to me but it does not get any simpler than the mental file cabinet theory. Sometimes it seems to me that I am learning when I am not even listening, and it is like getting it through osmosis. If you have ever heard of the police trying to get a witness to remember a license plate number by hypnotizing that person, you understand what I mean. It is in the sub-conscious and there is a curtain-like screen between the conscious and subconscious mind. This is what keeps us from going mad due to the busyness of it all.

I never underestimate the capacity of my mind when it comes to problem solving. Attending A.A. meetings on a regular basis and interacting with the people who have had similar experiences and have found similar solutions to their problems gives me a very encouraging outlook for the future. Many of the answers that I am seeking are right in front of my face and some are deeper in the file cabinet. Most of the time, when faced with the dilemma that is causing me any kind of distress, I can refer to my simple request of my higher power. God, please show me to do and please give me the strength to do it. I do not do well on my own. It is surprising how often I awake in the middle of the night, say A-HAH, and go back to sleep again. It seems that intuitively the answers come.

Even though meetings, 12-step services and operations have now some virtual environment, expenses continue to accumulate during these times which underscores the importance of practicing the Seventh Tradition. Miami-Dade Intergroup still stocks literature, handles 12-step calls around the clock, and assists those with a desire to stop drinking. Your generous support is critical and greatly appreciated. Please keep your Intergroup Office in mind when you send your contributions, the office has a direct link for contributions on our website:

AMENDS

"Though the variations were many, my main theme was always "how godawful I am?" Just as often exaggerated my modest attainments by pride, so I exaggerated my defects through guilt.

I would race about, confessing all (and a great deal more) to whoever would listen.

Believe or not, I took this widespread exposure of my sins to be great humility on my part, and considered it a great spiritual asset and consolation?

But later on I realized at depth that the great harms I had done others were not truly regreted.

These episodes were merely the basis for storytelling and exhibitionism."

"AA is more than a set of principles: it is a Society of alcoholics in action. We must carry the message, else we ourselves can wither and those who haven't been given the truth will die."

The Traditions, A Framework for Recovery

The Traditions are designed to keep the GROUP from destroying ITSELF; the Steps are designed to keep US from destroying OURSELVES.

Tradition Nine: "A.A., as such, ought never be organized; but we may create service boards or committees directly responsible to those they serve."

Most everyone in A.A., as well as virtually every other 12-Step fellowship consider the Steps and Traditions to be inspired by a "higher power." If you dispute this, consider the fact that almost every corporation, small business and virtually ALL governments everywhere have rules, guidelines and laws that must be enforced. Society is structured in this way, to avoid things like anarchy, for example. Twelve Step fellowships are the exception, and we all have the early A.A. members to thank.

One good look at the world tells you that systems that rely on profits and a hierarchy tend to suffer from a multitude of problems, and these arise from the usual suspects: money, property and prestige (in the form of entrenched power). Those pitfalls had to be side-stepped at all costs for A.A. to survive.

So, in order to avoid the shortcomings of the strategy that has led to so much suffering and misery and failure in the world, A.A. had to learn, through hard lessons and experience, and devise another way.

We alcoholics are a hard-headed bunch, and it took quite a bit of arguing, poverty and struggle to finally create the framework we have in the Steps and Traditions.

But wait....no organization? How can this be? How do you make people do what you want them to do, with no way to enforce it? Or toe the line? Or STAY in line?

The answer is fairly simple; according to our book: "Unless each AA member follows to the best of his ability our suggested Twelve Steps to recovery, he almost certainly signs his own death warrant," period. And the same is true for the A.A. group; unless the group adheres to the Twelve Traditions, the group's continued existence is in question.

The Steps and Traditions are indeed a miracle! Way to go A.A.

I am Just Learning How to do Life. Right Back at You Grand-Pa

When my grandson was in preschool, and after many hours with him, talking about everything from stars and space to bugs and animals, and trying to give him the best perspective I could about how to respond to life issues at a level that he could understand. He came home from school one day and told me that one of the boys in his class was being bad and had gotten into trouble. I tried to explain to him that the boy was not bad, he was just misbehaving and that he was too young to be bad. (5yrs. Old) I explained to him that maybe that boy did not have someone who could teach him how to behave properly. He continued the conversation and asked ("grandpa, if someone said I was a bad boy") I stopped him in midsentence and asked, "Who said that you were a bad boy"? He replied, "no one, but if they did" I stopped him again and said, if anyone says that you're a bad boy, you can just say, "I'm not a bad boy, I'm just a kid learning how to do life." At a meeting shortly thereafter, the topic was on resentment, and, for lack of a better analogy, I told the story of my grandson and how I look at everyone in the same way. Most people act out, to compensate for deeper rooted emotional problems. None of us are perfect. We all have shortcomings and for me to condemn someone else, who may be plagued by these things and has not resolved them yet, would be like piling on, and I always feel worse when I resort back to those old behaviors. I should never let my emotions, or my ego draw me into conflict with other troubled people. I must always try to take the high road in these situations. But what about when other people cross my boundaries in a negative way, do I have to be a doormat? No, I do not have to participate in it with them, if there is a way to remove myself from the situation, but I should not be judgmental either. I must refrain from pointing out that other person's faults. To me, they are like my grandson's little classmate. They are all like, (KIDS LEARNING HOW TO DO LIFE), and for me to engage in criticism in that situation would be like two old men in a care facility hitting each other with their canes because one was not walking fast enough for the other. It sounds funny, but we do it every day. I am no better or worse than the next man. I may be further along the path than him, but no better. I pray for understanding and compassion in these situations. I must never Judge a man on his surface behavior, I must have the strength to look deeper. We are all just like those KIDS LEARNING HOW TO DO LIFE.

A few months after that discussion with my grandson we were running a little late taking him to his Taekwondo class and he was in his child seat behind us in the car and I was bickering with my wife about getting there on time when he interrupted us saying "Guys, I can hear you." I responded by saying, "you should have been ready yourself" when he responded, "Grandpa, I am not a bad boy, I am just a kid learning how to do life." My wife and I broke out in laughter. God, I love that Kid.

NOVENA TRADICION

"A.A. como tal nunca debe ser organizada; pero podemos crear juntas o comités de servicio que sean directamente responsables ante aquellos a quienes sirven."

NOVENO CONCEPTO

"Los Custodios de la Junta de Servicios Generales actúan en dos calidades básicas; (a) con respecto a los Buenos directores de servicio, conjuntamente con métodos adecuados oportunos y sólidos para escogerlos, son indispensables, a todos los niveles, para nuestro funcionamiento y seguridad en el futuro. La dirección básica de servicio mundial que una vez ejercieron los fundadores de A.A., tiene que ser asumida por los Custodios de la Junta de Servicios Generales de Alcohólicos Anónimos."

NOVENO PASO

"Reparamos directamente a cuantos nos fue posible el daño causado, excepto cuando el hacerlo implicaba perjuicio para ellos o para otros."

"Each day that your Group participates in the work of our local A.A. services, whether through those who "Contribute their Time" or Group Contributions, or Sobriety Contributions, something wonderful happens in A.A. When a newcomer calls us and finds your meeting, it is indeed a miracle. Your contributions show that you care about the services we as a fellowship provide and continued hope for the newcomer that reaches out for help. Words cannot fully express the deep gratitude about the energy that your A.A. Group devotes into carrying the message of hope to the still suffering alcoholic."

FAITHFUL FIVER FRIENDS are fellow A.A. members who contribute $5.00 a month to the Intergroup Office as an act of gratitude. Origin of "I am Responsible..."?

Question: Where did the phrase "I am responsible" come from?

Answer: The Responsibility Declaration was written by Al S., a former Grapevine editor and trustee of Alcoholics Anonymous for the 1965 International Convention held in Toronto. Bill W. expanded on the theme in an essay called "Responsibility Is Our Theme" for the July 1965 Grapevine.

It became a regular feature of the Grapevine shortly thereafter. The Responsibility Declaration: "I am responsible. When anyone, anywhere, reaches out for help, I want the hand of A.A. always to be there. And for that: I am responsible."

This goes hand in hand with the Fifth Tradition. The long form says "Each Alcoholics Anonymous group ought to be a spiritual entity having but one primary purpose—that of carrying its message to the alcoholic who still suffers."

Sobriety can be tough sometimes, which is why recovering alcoholics can always use a good laugh. In AA, members learn to not take themselves too seriously, to be happy, joyous and free. Luckily, sobriety can be pretty darn amusing.
